FREAK ONE. Residents at the Frank Nichols home at 812 Pennsylvania ave., W., were in for a surprise about 10 o'clock Sunday morning when this truck, which was being towed by another, became unattached and ran wild into the porch of the house. Damage to the structure was estimated at $1000 and $500 to the truck. No one was injured.

Driver of the truck towing the wild machine was James L. Nichols, 38, of Erie.

Mr. Nichols, the owner of the home, is at the extreme left in the photo.

WISHING YOU A HAPPY

CHEST THEME. Director Harry Summers and the Warren high Dragon Band used the Community Chest theme for their half-time performance at the Warren-Franklin game on War Memorial Field Saturday afternoon.

Ribbons were extended from the circle of band members into the center indicating what percentage of the Chest donations goes to each member agency.

The ribbons were extended to the center as a representative from each agency was led onto the field by a majorette.

THE RELIGIOUS ISSUE

By Walter Lippmann

The exchanges between the Protestant ministers and Sen. Kennedy have not settled the "religious issue." But they have clarified it. There could have been no such thing as ignoring or suppressing the issue. The only effect of not discussing it openly would have been to leave the whole discussion to fester in the dark, anonymously and maliciously. No doubt the black propaganda will continue. But at least there now exists a respectable and responsible discussion of the issue.

Thanks to the initiative of the Protestant ministers all the honest and decent fears and doubts about a Catholic for President have been stated and placed before Sen. Kennedy. He in turn has reacted, not with resentment but, he recognizing that the question is "very important," that a discussion of it is legitimate, that the Protestant ministers had the right to interrogate him, and that he does not regard their doing this as "prejudiced or bigoted."

Sen. Kennedy's reaction to the ministers' questions, which were sharp and searching, was extremely interesting and important. He might have explained that to raise questions about his religion was a violation of the spirit of the Constitution, that the ministers were setting up a religious test for public office. But he did not do that. On the contrary, he chose to recognize that the questions raised by the ministers were real questions, not slanderous fabrications, and that an American Catholic running for President must answer them.

The questions put to Sen. Kennedy arise, according to the ministers, from the attempts of the Catholic church "to exercise control over its members in political and civic affairs." The crucial point is whether the authority of the Catholic hierarchy or the conscience of the office holder is to determine what is and what is not a political and civic affair. The case of the Protestant ministers against Sen. Kennedy is that "While the current Roman Catholic contender for the Presidency states specifically that he would not be so influenced (by the Catholic hierarchy in political and civic affairs), his church insists that he is duty-bound to admit to its direction. This unresolved conflict leaves doubt in the minds of millions of our citizens."

This leads to the precise question which Sen. Kennedy had to deal with. I think it can be stated this way. Where will be his paramount duty and loyalty on questions where, as for example birth control, the influence of the Catholic hierarchy has been used to impose by law on non-Catholics the Catholic doctrine?

Sen. Kennedy's answer is that "I do not accept the right of . . . any ecclesiastical official to tell me what I shall do in the sphere of my public responsibility as an elected official." This is a declaration that as an elected official he, and not the Catholic hierarchy, will determine what lies within the sphere of his public responsibility. In this, the separation between church and state is as complete as it can be made. But that is not the end of this story. The Protestant ministers have probed still more deeply. They have raised the question whether a good Catholic can be as independent and as secular as Sen. Kennedy declares himself to be. The way the Senator dealt with this loaded question is to my mind the most interesting, the most significant, and the most creditable and convincing thing in the whole affair.

His answer was in effect that on the crucial questions of church and state not all Catholics think alike. His declaration of freedom from ecclesiastical control in political and civic affairs is "the opinion of the overwhelming majority of American Catholics and I have no doubt that my view is known to Catholics around the world." His position, he asserted, is "a position of the American Catholic Church in the United States with which I am associated." It is not the position of the Spanish Catholic Church in Spain, or of the Colombian Catholic Church of Colombia. It is the position not of all American overwhelming majority" of them.

These are the answers of a brave and truthful man. (c) 1960 New York Herald Tribune Inc.

SMOKE GETS IN YOUR EYES. Maybe that is what happened to the hapless Warren high Dragon gridsters on Memorial Field Saturday afternoon when Franklin rolled over them 41-0. This stream of smoke was streaming out of a nearby plant onto the field reminding those present that a "smoke ordinance" might not be such a bad idea for borough council.

An official of this particular plant informed us later, however, that steps have been taken by them to eliminate the nuisance.

OBSERVATIONS

By Bob Walsh

HOW TO HANDLE
KHRUSHCHEV

The heading to this piece is more of a question than an offer of wisdom, and the "handling" to which we refer pertains to the news media and their problem of determining how minute should be the coverage of his visit to the United Nations, and other areas of our country where he can find a stump to stand on.

We have said that the press, radio, and television should limit their coverage to utterances of this Soviet leader. What he says in these trying times is vitally important to all of us, and if we are not sufficiently mature as a nation to digest it with full understanding our danger is great, no matter what he says.

We object to the kind of attention that to us is pulp magazine or gents room reporting. This extreme is prevalent in our news circles because of the highly competitive conditions extant in these fields of dollar-making. Another reader with jaundiced eye who will read another inch of advertising at a going rate is apt to be the measure of our press conscience.

It is not freedom much of the press is defending. It is the additional buck it hopes to make by beating its rivals. This applies to newspapers, magazines, radio, and television.

Inez Robb in today's column has the courage to speak out on this subject and she favors limiting coverage to his United Nations statements. She is apt to get her wish in part because of the restrictions applied to his traveling while he is with us.

THE OTHER SIDE

However, there is another side to this subject that is supported by good points. Though we possibly should not go to the extreme of hosing the visitor with cameras from night shirt to night-shirt, we also should not fear his constant diatribes against our leaders, if we have faith in those leaders. Or if we don't have faith in them.

The truth will not hurt us. And lies can serve a good purpose if we are truly informed about ourselves.

We have written and still believe that Khrushchev does not understand the American public, nor does he fully appreciate the spirit of a truly democratic people. He constantly talks to a world audience and no doubt with some hope of reaching the extremely small minority of American citizens who might choose the communist line.

He also must talk for those who keep him in power on the Moscow level.

In his extreme effort to drive home his propaganda to the world audience which he hopes to sell on communism he ignores the fibre he builds in American resistance. This fibre must be provided by public opinion and by the will of the people themselves. Without it no stand of strength can be taken by national leaders. No swords can belifted in defense of a people who want no part of the issue evoking the flash of steel.

For example, if we are to take a stand on Berlin which can mean the movement of troops who are equipped and ready to fire, we must have a citizenry which believes in such a stand. Berlin is far away and to most it seems not very important. But when a Soviet leader fires up a normally peace-loving populace he does their own war professionals a service and provides a resistance that will not move even in the face of flashing guns.

In our two major wars the American people did not take part until years of mental build-up had primed them to act when provocation finally materialized in tangible form. Unfortunately, in each case we were not ready despite the constant threats to peace. Fortunately, the nature of war in those years provided us with time, thanks to the expanses of sea surrounding us.

This no longer obtains and it may be vital that Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders have done so much spouting and our press has so completely covered that ranting. It has made it far easier to sell an expensive defense budget to the American citizens.

GOOD ARGUMENT

The press thus can well argue that every utterance and every action of this most voluble of communists is of sufficient importance to a free people to be publicized. They must be the judges and they must react to the statements of all world leaders.

Our contention, however, is that reporting done in extremes can remove the focus from official statements and key points made by the opposition. What he says during informal personal contacts has no official status. What he offers before the United Nations Assembly is what really counts and there is where the emphasis should be placed.

That is where world opinion should be formed and there is where it must stand up under the light of truth. For the same reason, our own leaders should welcome his words in such a forum and should be prepared to expose storms created in sensitive parts of the world by communism. While the U. N. works to keep the peace and to help new nations become strong, communism uses each troubled situation for its own gains.

This is the point that must be made, and to emphasize it we can not constantly soften each official Russian statement through the reporting of contradictory remarks made by Khrushchev during his meanderings off the reservation.

ANOTHER RISE AHEAD

By Joseph Alsop

Our eminent uninvited guest, Nikita S. Khrushchev, most probably has not just one, but three important meetings on his immediate schedule. After making his usual constructive contributions to the International Zoo at the U.N., he may well go to Cuba for a cozy weekend with Fidel Castro. And in October, he is expected to meet with Mao Tse-tung in North Korea.

Among these dates which the demonologists think Khrushchev has on his calendar, the one that will make the least immediate noise, the meeting with Mao will surely be the most significant if it takes place.

The point is that the relations between the Soviet Union and Communist China are now so tense that there is a clear possibility of an open break between the two giant powers of the Communist bloc. The obscure evidence but for this view, gathered from intelligence sources and from the Communist press, has already been summarized in a previous report in this space.

It is enough to say, here, that the evidence pointing to a Soviet-Chinese break is far stronger today than all the warning evidence that was available before the Soviet-Yugoslav break. Although Khrushchev will no doubt bellow for admission of Communist China to the United Nations, this will be a ritual gesture. The reality will still be the possibility of a break.

In his quarrel with the Chinese, moreover, Khrushchev has no free options. The Kremlin cannot back down in this quarrel, without compromising Moscow's claim to be the New Rome of Communism. It is Mao Tse-tung who has to decide whether to back down or to accept the break. And as yet there is no evidence at all that Mao Tse-tung is getting ready to back down.

In these circumstances, the point of issue in the quarrel has great potential importance. Superficially, it is doctrinal. The Chinese have called the Soviets

"blasphemous" for asserting that the holy Lenin believed in the possibility of peaceful co-existence with the capitalist powers. The Soviets have called the Chinese "blasphemous" for saying that the holy Lenin believed in the inevitability of war with the capitalist powers, as a necessary preview to the world triumph of the Communist cause.

But this superficial, doctrinal dispute undoubtedly conceals a far more crucial dispute about a concrete issue. As one dispute must also reflect the other, the concrete issue is all but certain to be Chinese insistence upon a warlike adventure which the Soviets regard as altogether too risky. If Mao Tse-tung finally accepts a break on this issue, it must mean, in turn, that he is prepared to launch his desired adventure without assurance of Soviet support.

Such is the logic of the Sino-Soviet quarrel. Other points are involved, but the war-vs-peace conflict, is fairly central. If a break comes, therefore, it will knock into a cocked hat one of the absolutely basic and most comforting assumptions of the Western policy makers ---- the assumption that the Soviets can always be counted on to retain a power of veto over Chinese adventure involving any military risk.

The collapse of that long standing assumption is an ugly thing to contemplate. Yet a Chinese challenge to the Soviet power of veto is about the only way to make sense out of this Sino-Soviet quarrel. There is nothing else that could drive Khrushchev to consider a break with Mao, as he is obviously doing, unless Khrushchev believes that internal strains in China are so great that the Chinese regime itself is in danger from within. The two factors may inter-act, in truth, but their internal strains would naturally produce a desperate Chinese hankering for external military success.

One question remains: where on earth can the Chinese hope to gain a nationally unifying military success without full Soviet support? These is, unhappily, a possible answer. These is the exposed position on the offshore islands in the Formosa Strait, that the Soviets authorized the Chinese to make a carefully limited assault two years ago.

That assault failed, partly because of American action, but mainly because of the sheer military incompetence of the Chinese effort. In particular, the Chinese Communist artillery, which ought to have interdicted all access to the offshore islands, instead altogether failed to establish an effective blockade. Since that time, little has been done to strengthen the offshore islands. But since that time, according to the best informed estimates, everything has been done to strengthen the Chinese Communist artillery preparation.

For these reasons, the possibility of a Sino-Soviet break, which ought only to raise the hopes of the West, is also causing considerable Western apprehension.

It may be far from the income tax filing date but many of us do much during the year which affects that eventual moment of truth. One little gimmick is to use interest as a deduction. This is perfectly legal if the purpose of the interest is not a deliberate effort to obtain a deduction.

There is some question about such an intention and there now is a case before the United States Supreme Court to decide it. If such a practice is found illegal those who have borrowed money to be used for investment and have counted the interest as a tax deduction while earning money on the principle will have to change their approach.

UP GOES THE COST

The cost of living in Pennsylvania hit a new high between April 15 and July 25 when it went up 0.3 per cent. The national average did the same, though it is a bit higher than Pennsylvania's, 126.6 against our 126.3. This percentage approach uses the 1947-49 era as a base period.

During the past year the Pennsylvania index rose 2 per cent compared with the national increase of 1.4 per cent.

Pennsylvania's medical care costs went up 0.3 per cent. The national rise was 0.6 per cent in the second quarter.

Our recreation costs dropped 0.1 per cent because of lower movie prices. The national change was 0.4 per cent upward.

Much has been written about the amounts paid annually in life insurance claims. But there is a more pleasant side to insurance payments that affects the insured. Living benefits paid to Pennsylvanians last year totaled $360,854,000, which is 58 per cent of the total life insurance benefit payments. Another $260,665,000 was paid in death benefits to families of this state.

Social Security Increases Coverage

Social security amendments signed by the President on Sept. 13, 1960, will bring benefits to an estimated 125,000 additional disabled workers and to the members of their families throughout the country, Howard H. Giff, Manager of the Jamestown Social Security Office, announced today. In Warren County, about 100 more disabled workers and their families will now be eligible for disability benefits.

Mr. Giff pointed out that the change regarding disability benefits is only one of a number of changes made by the amendments. The new law will bring increased benefits to 100 children in Warren County and, through liberalized work requirements, will make some 100 people age 65 or over eligible for benefits. Other significant provisions increase the number of people eligible for benefits and increase benefits in some instances.

Returning to disability insurance, Giff explained that a person can now qualify for disability benefits without regard to his age. If he has worked long enough under social security and if his disability is severe enough to meet the definition in the social security law, he and eligible members of his family may draw the benefits even if he has not reached 50 -- the age requirement in the prior law.

"Those who have already made application to have their social security records frozen because of their disability do not need to take any action now," Giff said. "The Social Security Administration has their records on file and will write to them telling them what they should do. However, those disabled people who have not had a previous contact with a social security office to discuss disability protection and who have been disabled at least six months should get in touch with our office right away because benefits cannot be paid until an application for them is made."

Another change made by the new amendments affects people entitled to benefits and who are working, Mr. Giff explained. Unchanged is the rule that a person can get social security benefits for every month of the year if his earnings for the year do not go over $1200. For amounts over $1200 -- the following formula applies beginning in 1961: One dollar in benefits is withheld for each $2 of earnings between $1200 and $1500. If a person earns more than $1500, he forfeits a dollar in benefits for each dollar that his earnings go over the $1500 amount. However, in spite of this rule, no one will forfeit benefits for any month that he earns $100 or less in wages. If he is self-employed, he does not forfeit a benefit for any month that he does not engage actively in the affairs of his business.

Giff estimated that 15 people in Warren County -- most of them aged widows -- will benefit by changes in the law which permit payment of monthly checks to eligible survivors of working people who died between March 31, 1938, and December 31, 1939, with at least a year and a half of work under social security. Before this change, survivors could not receive benefits on the social security account of anyone who died before 1940. Also, a dependent widower can now get benefits even if his wife died before 1950, if the wife met the work requirements under social security. Before this change, survivors could not receive benefits on the social security account of anyone who died before 1940. Also, a dependent widower can now get benefits even if his wife died before 1950, if the wife met the work requirements under social security. Before this change, dependent widowers could not become eligible for benefits unless the person on whose social security account the benefits were claimed died in or after September 1950. But no one can receive benefits under this provision until he has made a claim for them through the local social security district office.

Families drawing social security benefits for two or more children and not now receiving the maximum payable to a family will find an additional amount added to their social security checks for December 1960, because of a change which calls for payment of an amount equal to three-fourths of the base amount to each child. This is changed from the formula which provided for one-half of the base amount to each child with a quarter of the base amount divided among all the children. Families affected by this change need to take no action. The additional amount will show up on the social security check which they receive in January 1961.

Giff explained that the amendments also reduce the amount of work time needed to qualify for benefits. Instead of needing two calendar quarters of work for every four quarters after 1950, the number of work quarters required is now one for three. Unchanged, however, is the provision that no one may get benefits without at least six quarters of work. "Anyone who has failed to qualify for benefits in the past because he did not have enough work under social security should call at the local social security district office to find out if this new provision now makes him eligible," Giff explained.

Other changes made by the amendments extend social security to parents working in a trade or business owned by a son or daughter, permit nonprofit organizations to provide social security coverage for present employees who want coverage, and for employees hired in the future even if less than two-thirds of the employees desire this coverage, and give clergymen, whose social security participation is optional, an extension to April 15, 1962, to choose to be included under the social security plan.

A further change allows benefits to be paid to wives, stepchildren, and adopted children of retired and disabled workers, if the relationship has been in effect for at least one year. In addition, the lump sum death payment can now be paid directly to the funeral director if no widow or widower of the deceased survives, and the person responsible for the payment of the burial expenses agrees to this disposition, or if no one assumes responsibility for the burial expenses within 90 days of the date of death.

Finally, under two further changes in social security disability insurance, a person drawing disability benefits may have a trial work period of 12 months during which he will continue to receive his monthly checks. The second change affects anyone who again becomes disabled within five years of the time that a previous period of disability ended. "For further information about how these amendments affect you, phone, write or call at your social security district office at the Hotel Jamestown Building," Giff explained. "You should make sure to call if you may be newly entitled to benefits. Monthly checks cannot be started until an application for them is made."

MEMO: From Walter T. Forsberg:

The widespread interest and support shown during my grand opening celebration last week were very encouraging. To show my appreciation, I am continuing the celebration this week, with gifts for all my patrons and friends (and suckers for the kiddies). There will also be another special gift of one free pair of shoes — the lucky customer's choice of my entire stock.

My compliments to last week's lucky ladies: Joan Luther, Evelyn Brown and Barbara Bates.

MEN! I have been appointed an authorized FLORSHEIM agent. You will want to see my fine range of styles. I have also just received a complete line of rubbers, boots and other winter-weather-proof footwear. Come in! Choose yours while the selection is best!

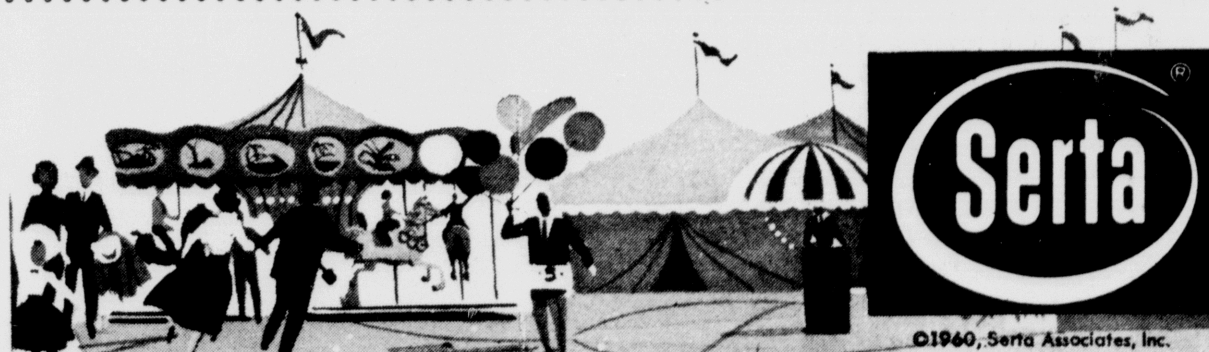

Sincerely,

Walter T. Forsberg

Advantages of School Merger are Explained by State Authority

Increased financial help from the state and a more efficient organization were the two major advantages of a school merger or union in contrast to a jointure discussed by Roy Cleaver, Pennsylvania State Department of Public Instruction, when the Warren Area Joint School district boards, and a few public citizens, met in Beaty cafeteria Monday evening. The financial help to the Warren area would be about $80,000 a year.

This increase comes through the additional amount paid by the state in an effort to encourage the formation of the more efficient merged districts. Today the amount paid per teaching unit is $500. Under a merger it would jump to $800. There would be some increases under the merger, but the resulting improvements made possible by those increases would be to the district's advantage. In a union district, such as we now have, the weakest district often holds back progress because it cannot afford more expense. This is threatening to happen in the Warren area where some boards were forced to make large tax increases this year. A merged district would level off these costs.

Though the tax spread for most of the nine districts in the Warren jointure is very slight and the millage might even out at 18 or 19, there are two extremes. Watson twp. has a millage of only 5.5. Elk twp. pays 30 mills. Elk would save about ten mills and Watson would go up about 14.5.

These are only guesses and are very approximate. Building programs and other conditions will affect such figures in the future.

Mr. Cleaver said that the replacement of 47 school directors with eleven results in greater efficiency and all directors soon become aware of the problems of the whole while not losing their knowledge of their own district's peculiarities. The efficiency results from eliminating ten sets of records, ten secretaries, and ten of many other positions and items. In their place there would be only one.

The only difference between a merger and a union is the way in which the decision is presented to the voters. After that they are identical. A union cannot be formed unless all the districts agree to join. But if you vote on a merger, those districts approving it can merge and those not agreeing continue as jointure partners and receive less help from the state. Usually the dissenters soon follow suit when they see the advantages.

Each district entering the new system elects a director to the board. There also would be two elected at large in the Warren area situation. Four would be elected from the larger districts the first year, four from the next largest two years later, one from the smallest and two at large the fourth year. Meanwhile, the present jointure committee members would serve out their terms and would be replaced by the new directors every two years until the complete change-over is effected

Under the union or merger Warren would become eligible for transportation assistance from the state. An advantage to all develops when the schools are paid for and the financial advantage of being a part of the whole becomes obvious.

Minor problems include the absorption of debts that may exist in some districts. Some also dislike the loss of identity. But county rule seems to be accepted with commissioners elected at large. Why not schools?

If the area wants the merger it will be up to the boards to become fully informed and to enlighten their constituents. The proposal seldom is defeated except where the public is poorly informed.

Fast...but gentle MAYTAG Halo-of-Heat Dryers

Fast-dries a diaper load in 26-35 minutes

This new kind of dryer surrounds clothes with a gentle circle of low-temperature heat. This exclusive principle eliminates the "hot spot" heat that makes clothes feel harsh to the touch.

Yet it's fast—dries even diapers in 26 to 35 minutes. And, after a 3-minute air-fluffing, they come out wonderfully soft and comfortably cool. Sweet and clean, too, because the air inside is changed every 2 seconds, filtered free of dust and dirt.

The new Maytag Halo-of-Heat Dryer also gives you a special "Wash 'n Wear" setting that removes wrinkles from modern fabrics. A Time Chime tells you when they're dried just right. Gas or Electric models.

You can't own a more service-free dryer than a Maytag

- Radiant circle of gentle heat dries clothes fast as you can wash them
- Thermostatic control assures right heat at all times
- Positive safety door for complete protection
- Guaranteed against rust
- Flush-to-wall, flush-to-cabinet installation
- Gas Halo-of-Heat Dryer available

BLUE CROSS REPORT

Apparently the increases allowed Blue Cross have proved sufficient to put the Association in a stronger financial position than it was a year ago when its reserves were so low they would cover only two weeks of service. Today Blue Cross has enough in the bank to finance a month and a half of normal service. Not enough, perhaps, but certainly a much better position than before the rate increases. A five-months reserve level is recommended by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners.

Helping Western Pennsylvanians is the comparatively low rate of hospitalization which is 12 per cent under the national average. At the same time our Western Pennsylvania hospitals exceed the national average in the provision of specialized patient services. We offer 18 of the 21 services, including post-operative recovery rooms, radioactive isotope therapy, premature nurseries, and intensive care units.

OUR BOND RECORD

Warren county residents possess $12 million worth of government E and H bonds. This is .3 per cent of one per cent of the $4 billion owned in the state.

Chairman of the bond sales in Warren county is Harry W. Conarro, president of Struthers Wells Corp., who has headed up the bond program in this area since 1954. Warren county is forty-fifth in county totals. In fact we don't compare well with neighboring counties, most of which exceed our total, except for little Forest county.

FORGOTTEN AGAIN

The Pennsylvania Department of Highways has published a brochure which pictures fifty-four hazardous bridges of the state. We have gone through it twice and have not found one bridge located in Northwestern Pennsylvania. Either our bridges are exceptionally good or Harrisburg has forgotten us again. On the cover? A bridge near Harrisburg.

NEW VA RATES

If you are a veteran with disabilities you might gain a bit by checking the new rates. There now is a special rate of $265 a month for veterans with service-connected total disabilities who also have service-connected disabilities independently rated at 60 per cent or more or who are permanently house-bound because of their service-connected disabilities.

There also is a special monthly compensation of $212 for a service-connected disability incurred in peacetime.

ONE-CAR MISHAP ON DUTCH HILL ROAD

Faulty brakes were the cause of a one-car accident which happened at 5 p.m. Monday afternoon on the Dutch Hill road, involving a vehicle operated by Emma L. Hunt, age 17. The girl had been visiting friends in Venturatown before she left for home, knowing that her brakes were bad.

As she approached the intersection of Route 69 and the Dutch Hill road, her car failed to negotiate a right turn and left the highway, striking a tree. Miss Hunt was not injured in the incident.

TIMBER SALES ANNOUNCED

The 1960 timber sales in the Allegheny National Forest yielded $792,602, a record for this forest area. This is only part of the multiple use value of the forests which also include hunting, fishing, soil, and water. Congressman Gavin has been quoted as saying that he is studying plans advocated by the Allegheny National Forest for recreation developments in the new dam area, and says it offers unparalleled opportunities for this congressional district.

ADD TO BEAUTY STAFF

Dial-A-Prayer Comes To Warren

The Dial-A-Prayer program which is used in many communities is being inaugurated in Warren this week. This devotional program is sponsored by the board of deacons of the First Presbyterian Church on a six months' trial basis. It is offered as a community service to help meet the spiritual needs of the people of this area.

By dialing RA3-7729 (letters for the last four numbers are PRAY), a devotional message, lasting one minute, is heard. Messages prepared by the ministers of the church, Rev. Donald H. Spencer and Rev. Marion W. McCoy, will be recorded each morning and be available for the twenty-four hour period following. If the busy signal is heard, it means the two telephones are in use that minute. The daily meditation and prayer are given with the hope that people will be led to continue on in prayer.

According to Mr. Spencer, the experience of other communities has indicated that doctors, sales clerks, mothers, business men, hospital patients, the young people, the older people, the lonely or afraid - and many more have found through Dial-A-Prayer help and strength at all hours of the day or night.

DAY SUPERVISOR of nursing services at the Warren State Hospital is Mrs. Myrl Lawson, R.N. The announcement was made this week by Miss Harriet Morgan, R. N., who has been at the hospital since December of 1951, and who is currently the director of nurses.

In addition to the normal administrative duties assigned to her new position, Mrs. Lawson will be directly responsible for interviewing prospective employees after they have been screened by the Personnel Division.

Mrs. Lawson is a member of the American Nurses' Association and the Pennsylvania Nurses' Association.

Action Foreseen In Township Annexation

The Allegheny River Reservoir Project at Kinzua will leave only 23 per cent of the present developed areas of Kinzua and Corydon townships in private ownership, according to a report recently made public by the Warren County Planning Commission, and as a result, the Warren County Board of Commissioners has started action to enlighten the remaining land owners in these districts on the feasibility of annexations. Over twenty supervisors from Kinzua, Corydon, Elk, Mead and Glade townships met with the Commissioners Monday evening to discuss a plan of action.

The Commissioners announced that in the early part of October meetings will be held in Kinzua and Corydon with property owners for the purpose of explaining the advantages of annexing portions of Kinzua township with Mead township, and Corydon township with Elk. The issue can only be settled through a popular vote of the persons in all the townships involved, and the Commissioners feel that immediate action is necessary to have the vote carried to the people in the primary election next spring.

In the report prepared for the Commissioners by the Planning Commission it was stated that the 1960 assessment roles for the areas show there were 337 taxable parcels in Kinzua township and 198 in Corydon township for a total of 535. Due to the condemnation by the Corps of Engineers, 83 per cent of these parcels will be removed from the tax roles.

It was further noted that only $41,538 assessed valuation will remain in Kinzua township, or 7.7 per cent of its present total assessed real estate, while Corydon township will have only $23,196 remaining, or 5.5 per cent of its total assessed valuation. Other sources of revenue, such as oil, gas, and mineral, occupation and similar assessments, will also be eliminated. For all practical purposes, the Planning Commission felt that the remaining revenue would not be sufficient to sustain either Kinzua or Corydon townships.

Three proposals were suggested, but the one that seemed most practical was the annexation of those areas by Elk and Mead townships. This, of course, would mean an increase in acreage for Elk and Mead, but the planners feel it would present no additional administrative problems. All roads in the new areas would be maintained by the State or Forest Service, and residents in these areas would for the most part be seasonal. Revenue from the National Forest could be used to augment Public Services in the remainder of the townships.

ENTERS NOTRE DAME. Martin Praino, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Praino, 5 N. Carver st., Warren, entered the University of Notre Dame for his first year of advanced schooling on Sept. 16. Praino, a 1960 graduate of Warren high, plans to take a course in one of the sciences.

TELEVISION & RADIO

By John Crosby

NEWS THROUGH THE CAMERA

With Khrushchev and all his stooges in town in the middle of a Presidential election, it's going to be a tumultuous couple of weeks for old New York. Over the weekend, television demonstrated again what it does very well and what it does very badly in the field of news.

What it does very well is reveal personality to an extraordinary degree. What it does awkwardly is to cover breaking news like the arrival of Khrushchev. Both NBC and CBS covered the arrival of the Baltika with a thoroughness that cuts new heights of ennui. For forty-five minutes, millions of people looked at pictures of the ship landing while Joe Michaels and John Rich of NBC groped for something interesting to say. Here's a sample of what they said.

"The first line has hit the pier. Here comes the line following the light line which was thrown down. It looks like a steel cable." Then came some words which the networks themselves might well ponder. "All these Communist arrivals get to be the same if you've seen them all over the world. Always the flower girls, always the applause . . ." If you must know, NBC, all arrivals look alike. Invariably for the lack of anything else to say, the commentators get talking about the red carpet itself. I've heard Dave Schoenbrun anxiously discuss whether the train would stop at the exact point for the carpet or whether it would miss it; this time NBC announced triumphantly that the red carpet was too short and that Khrushchev would get his feet wet.

However, when Nikita (I can't spell Khrushchev) got off the boat and unlimbered his disarmament proposals within two minutes of arrival here, there's no doubt the networks had a red hot story right off the stove. NBC had trouble with its sound and muffed it. CBS had a translator right there -- so you got the speech translated twice, once by a CBS man and once by the official Russian translator.

As at the convention, the arrival of Nikita and company showed the painful inability of television to edit breaking news. I don't know what to suggest any more than they'd know what to do about it. The networks like to say they were there -- but who's looking at that hour? Both networks had excellent summary of what Khrushchev's speech meant, right on top of the speech and that part of it was wonderful.

***

NBC had a couple of special programs over the weekend, both excellent -- one on the General Assembly session now underway. Joseph Michaels, NBC Moscow man, Frank Bourgoltzer, NBC's man at the United Nations, Joseph Harsch, one of their Washington men, and John Rich, who just got back from the Congo, all contributed analyses of the international situation and the U. N. problem. Frank Blair acts as chairman of the whole show and I must say, he's awfully good at it. He's well informed, personable, and relaxed, and that's a tough combination to find.

The candidates were also on display on a special NBC show called "The Campaign and the Candidates." It was a very good summary of the highlights. It showed Nixon in bed. It showed Kennedy at the ministerial meeting in Texas. Both of the candidates were at their very best during these jousts.

Then, just to lighten the atmosphere a bit, the program exhibited the Vice Presidential candidates at pretty close to their work, and most political. Cabot Lodge was shown and heard coming out unequivocally against hurricanes. A fellow in my living room said: "A man who hates hurricanes can't be all bad."

Not to be outdone, Lyndon Johnson was displayed uttering a line which might have come from "Of Thee I Sing": "I defy any Madison Ave. publicity man to find a single thing that Richard Nixon ever did for the state of Arizona." Three guesses where that remark was made.

One thing is for sure: We're going to see more of these candidates than any other in history. The threat of overexposure and of bad exposure is dire. The great debate, if that's what it is, is going to start next Monday on every network TV station. It's a close race, and it's my guess that these television interchanges are going to be decisive. A mistake on anyone's part is going to be disastrous.

BELL OPEN HOUSE. John Freund, wire chief for Bell Telephone Co., holds a large group of balloons which were distributed to Warren children on Liberty st., Friday evening.

The balloons were given away to announce the Bell company's open house which started last evening and will be held tonight and Thursday night from 6:30 to 9:30 p. m. at the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and East street. The public is invited, and it is requested children be accompanied by adults.

NEWLY ELECTED. Fourth Degree Assembly, Knights of Columbus, Warren Council, held its first fall meeting last week, preceded by a dinner, at which time the newly elected officers presided.

Faithful Friar; Benjamin Malec, Faithful Navigator; John Salamon, Faithful Comptroller.

Second row: Benjamin Scalise, Faithful Admiral; Robert Simonson, Faithful Pilot; Marcel Prigent, Faithful Inner Sentinel; James Valone, Faithful Outer Sentinel.

Also present at the meeting was Carl Deemer of the Franklin Assembly.

Cabot Lodge, for example, was on "Meet the Press" Sunday. He was knowledgeable, handsome, authoritative, and very impressive. At first. But then he began to get snappish -- and it's my guess he lost the Republicans some votes. An emotional outburst like this in the grand debate could lose the ball game altogether.

In Brief

VOTING SITE CHANGED; NEW TOWNSHIP BLDG.

Upon request of the Judge of Elections in Mead township, Mrs. W. H. McClellan, the voting place in that township for the first district has been changed from the community house to the Diamond Grange Hall. The hall is located in Tiona on the Six Mile road, and voters will use that site in the General Election on Nov. 8.

Thursday morning at 10 a.m., a hearing will be held in court on an issue that would give the Pittsfield township voting house to the township supervisors. Presently the building is owned jointly by the supervisors and the Warren County Board of Commissioners. The Commissioners stated that the Pittsfield supervisors have expressed a desire to build a new township building, and the hearing is a necessary step in the enterprise.

PROPERTY TRANSFERS

More property in the area affected by the Allegheny River Reservoir project has been transferred to the Army Corp of Engineers. Latest persons to turn over property to the Corp are Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Volk, Kinzua township, and Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Fogg, Gladetownship. Total value of the property transferred is $11,945.

HIT-RUN DRIVER ARRESTED

This week end the Warren state police arrested Charles Willard Rodgers, 21, 215 Orchard st., Youngsville, on a hit-and-run charge as a result of an accident which occurred on Sept. 11. Rodgers pleaded guilty to the charge when arraigned before Justice of the Peace Fred Berry in Starbrick. He is being held in the Warren County Jail in default of bond and will appear at the next term of quarter sessions court.

THE 1961 DART, Dodge's entry in the traditional low-price field, offers 29 different models. Above is the 2-door Dart hardtop. Both six- and eight-cylinder engines use regular gasoline.

On Sept. 11 a car operated by John Williams, 41, of Corry, was struck by a second auto while proceeding south on Route 59. A witness to the incident was interviewed by the state police on Friday, and the license plate of the second auto was learned and traced to Rodgers. Trooper Frederick Murray arrested the Youngsville man Saturday.

RUNAWAY TRUCK DAMAGES AVENUE RESIDENCE

A truck, which was being towed by a second such vehicle, broke loose from its tow bar and rammed the home of Frank Nichols, 812 Pennsylvania ave., W., in an incident which occurred Sunday morning at 10 a.m. Damage to the property was estimated at $1000, and the truck was damaged to the extent of $500.

James L. Nichols, Erie, was pulling the machine, traveling west on the avenue. Between Union st. and Beech st., the bumper on which the tow bar was hooked pulled loose from the truck being towed. The "stray" ran wild with no operator, left the highway, and crashed into the front of the Nichols' residence.

No arrest was made, and fortunately no one was injured in the mishap.

DR. CHARLOTTE FERENCZ, a speaker at the nursing seminar to be sponsored by the McKean and Warren County Heart Associations October 4th, at the Warren State Hospital, will focus her discussion on rheumatic fever and heart disease nursing care.

Dr. Ferencz was born in Budapest, Hungary and received her Doctor of Medicine at McGill University, Montreal, Canada.

Her research work has primarily included problems in rheumatic fever and congenital heart disease. Dr. Ferencz has conducted an extensive public health survey in Baltimore, Md. regarding streptococcal infection and the incidence of rheumatic fever.

Having held several appointments with hospitals in Canada and the United States, Dr. Ferencz is presently on the staff of the Edward J. Meyer Memorial Hospital, Buffalo, N. Y.

Holding an Assistant Professorship in Pediatrics, Dr. Ferencz has served on the medical school faculties of John Hopkins University and the University of Cincinnati.

30 Kennedy 35 Nixon 35 Undecided

By Marquis Childs

New York. -- With the first phase of the campaign -- registration of voters and zipping together the organization -- nearing an end, what was evident a month ago is still the fundamental fact. With a total of 77 electoral votes New York and California, the two giant states on opposite coasts, can mean the difference between defeat and victory.

That is why Senator John F. Kennedy's 20-hour stay in this metropolis was so important. He had to convince the marginal and wavering voters who can swing the city and the state that he is a convinced liberal in the tradition of Franklin Roosevelt, Harry Truman and Adlai Stevenson, whose names he so often invokes.

The impression in the aftermath of his half-dozen appearances is that he had considerable success. With the help of Stevenson and Senator Herbert Lehman he made a beginning at stirring those voters who have been sitting back with indifference toward, if not resentment for, the Kennedy-Johnson ticket.

If you do not unite and get out the vote, speaker after speaker warned, you will help to put Richard Nixon in the White House. That is the target for the balance of the campaign in this state -- the threat of Nixon held over the heads of voters who belong to minorities sensitive to trouble and change.

What makes this so important is the Democratic candidate's realization of the extent of the prejudice on the score of his Catholicism in the South and the Midwest. This has been a real shock to Kennedy who was unprepared for it. He had thought that the whole question was laid to rest in West Virginia where he won the primary by a wide margin. But, as some observers understood at the time, the voters of West Virginia did not believe they were voting for a President of the United States. They could afford in the primary to refute the charge of bigotry by casting their votes for an attractive young man who might or might not at a later day be a candidate for President.

New York State is still, in the commonly held view, to be won or lost. If the election were to be held tomorrow California would, according to all the indicators, go for Nixon.

Stevenson, who raised $170,000 for the Kennedy-Johnson campaign at the dinner he sponsored here, is shortly leaving on a cross-country speaking tour. He will go to Minnesota, Washington and then California for a series of talks to audiences that will be made up in large part of his last-ditch adherents. His mission is to inspire these partisans to go out and work for the ticket with all their might and main.

This is for Kennedy a supremely important endeavor. For the Democrats in California, where the game of crossing party lines makes a mockery of the Democrats' three-to-two margin in registration, Stevenson is the not-so-secret weapon. It is hardly an exaggeration to say that if the state can be carried for the Democratic ticket it is Stevenson and those following his lead who can do it.

And by the same token, if the Republicans can carry New York, it is Governor Nelson Rockefeller who can do it. Rockefeller, who challenged Nixon's credentials up to the very last minute, is in something of a dilemma. If the Republicans lose the state in November it will be a black eye for him. His own political future, with the need to be re-elected in 1962, will be cloudy.

But a Nixon victory, with the prospect of eight years in the White House, will put a long period to Rockefeller's national ambitions. Yet he intends to go all out for the national ticket with the determination, the stubborn intensity, the charm and the humor that have carried him so far so fast. Reform Democrats, who have seen their party under the old-line leadership lose the two Senate seats and the governor-ship, take this threat very seriously.

Besides Rockefeller, the Republicans have a secret weapon in Henry Cabot Lodge, the Vice-Presidential candidate. The reaction to Lodge around the country, and especially in California and New York where there is greater sensitivity to the peace and foreign policy issues, proves, if any proof were needed, Nixon's political astuteness. Long before the Chicago convention he picked Lodge as his running mate, convinced that he could put him over on the reluctant nationalists and ultra-conservatives.

The fact is that Lodge is cutting it both ways. For one group he is the big, bold cold warrior who can stand up to the Russians. But for a group on the opposite side of the ideological fence he is the man of peace, skilled in the ways of the United Nations.

One of the most astute strategists in the Kennedy camp, scorning the current polls, estimated that as of today the strength of the two tickets is roughly Nixon 34 percent, Kennedy 30 percent, with a whopping 35 percent undecided. That is a wholly subjective judgment, but it may come closer to the fact than the pollsters. And this massive indecisiveness applies with special force to the two big states that must be won for victory.

Mr. K Given Too Much Voice

By Inez Robb

The United States Government for the duration of his visit to the United Nations General Assembly meeting has confined Nikita Khrushchev to Manhattan Island.

But his voice will reverberate throughout the land if the Russian master accepts even one-tenth of the clamorous offerings being made him by American news media, all itching to present this master of propaganda with a national forum from which he can denounce the United States, its government and its policies.

As if the General Assembly did not offer this unscrupulous opportunist an unparalleled international platform from which his voice and invective will ring round the world, American news media are vying to give him a coast-to-coast exposure at his pleasure.

Far from applying the silent treatment to the man who has promised to bury us and who means it, United States news institutions are simply imploring him to use their facilities to further his program.

Khrushchev should be met in this country with a correct diplomatic courtesy, but nothing more. The plans of the International Longshoremen's Association to send its leather-lunged bully boys down the bay in boats to meet Khrushchev's ship, the liner Baltika, with boos and catcalls is just as offensive as the clamor of news media to let him air his bile.

The longshoremen's planned reception of the Soviet Premier is childish and stupid. The rush of radio and teevee networks to present Khrushchev is stupid and adult. Of the two, I find the former less offensive.

In their rush to get a beat, or a scoop, perish forbid! or to be first with Khrushchev on the air, radio and teevee is giving this rocket-rattler who has breached the Monroe Doctrine the impression that the American public is dying to hear him and that he can appeal to the American people over the heads of its government.

Furthermore, the Overseas Press Club, of which I have been a member for more than 20 years, is providing the nation's paramount enemy with another national forum in asking him to address an OPC luncheon during his visit to the United Nations.

Naturally Khrushchev, shrewd as a fox, jumped at the OPC invite. Nor do I have any doubt that teevee stations will be killing each other in their eagerness to broadcast his deathless hate. It is inconceivable that any U. S. news media or club would have sponsored Hitler in 1940. I find no difference between Khrushchev and Hitler in 1960, except that the Russian is a far more brilliant and implacable foe.

The issue has nothing to do with free speech or freedom of the press. Khrushchev's antics at the United Nations will be reported in painful detail, as they should be, by press, television and radio. We shall hear of him, ad nauseam, as well we should, throughout his U. N. performances. I believe that in his role in the United Nations, the news media should give us the fullest and detailed coverage.

But it is a major, even a disastrous, mistake for that media to beg Khrushchev to accept its facilities for a continuous forum through which to peddle his propaganda. Such actions do not constitute free speech or free press but free lunacy.

The crazy, contradictory aspect of this rush of news media to give Khrushchev a forum from which to lambaste America and Americans is that they are all loyal, patriotic institutions, devoting much of their time to combatting the very thing they are sponsoring when they offer Khrushchev a platform.

The government's attempt to quarantine him is being violated by rival news factions fighting for the dubious "first" of giving Khrushchev a platform from which to insult this nation and its people.

A PHOTOGRAPHIC COPY of an original parchment grant of land in Brokenstraw township, dated June 1st, 1836, to WILLIAM SIGGINS, has been presented to the Warren County Historical Society by Ernest L. Siggins, Esquire, of Greenwich, Connecticut, a descendant of Judge Siggins. The original, a prized family possession, hangs in an honored place in his home.

Judge William Siggins, one of the most distinguished of the earliest settlers in Warren County, was born in Ireland May 12th, 1789, and died in Youngsville July 15th, 1875.

He is buried in the Youngsville Cemetery.

He sailed for America in 1793 at the age of four, when his father brought his family to Center County. His father died in 1801. In 1803, William Siggins joined his Brother George at the Pit-hole settlement. Eager for an education, he went to school to William Middleton at Pithole in 1804, working evenings and mornings for room, board and tuition. In 1807, at the age of 18, he hired out at 12 dollars a month timbering. He could cut and split 150 rails in a day. He went with rafts down the Allegheny.

In 1813, he served with Admiral Perry in the War of 1812, returning upon his discharge to his wife and one child he had left in the wilderness.

He owned sawmills, and served as County Commissioner, Justice of the Peace, and an Associate Judge of Warren County. Like his parents, he was a member of the Methodist Church. It is recorded that Judge Siggins . . . had not only a 'sound mind in a sound body', but a powerful mind in a powerful body." He and his wife Polly (Wilson) Siggins, had twelve children -- eight sons and four daughters. They were progenitors of a line of distinguished descendants.

THE JAPANESE SURRENDER
U. S. S. MISSOURI
TOKYO BAY, 2 SEPTEMBER 1945

COMMANDER IN CHIEF, ATLANTIC
AND U. S. ATLANTIC FLEET

ATLANTIC

Norfolk, Virginia
August 10, 1960

Fellow Legionnaires of Chief Cornplanter Post No. 135:

On Sunday, September 2, 1945, World War II was brought to a close by the signing of the Instrument of Surrender on board the U. S. S. MISSOURI in Tokyo Bay.

The Japanese signatories were Mamoru Shigemitsu, the Foreign Minister, in behalf of the Emperor of Japan and the Japanese Government; and Jostijiro Umezu, Chief of Staff of the Army, in behalf of the Japanese Imperial General Headquarters.

In a brief speech before the signing, General MacArthur said:

"It is my earnest hope and indeed the hope of all mankind that from this solemn occasion a better world shall emerge out of the blood and carnage of the past - a world founded upon faith and understanding - a world dedicated to the dignity of man and the fulfillment of his most cherished wish - for freedom, tolerance and justice."

This hope, so eloquently expressed fifteen years ago, still serves as an inspiration for all of us.

Sincerely yours,

Robert L. Dennison

A COPY of the Instrument of Surrender signed on September 9, 1945, to bring World War II to a close (shown at the top of this page), has been given to the Chief Cornplanter Post, American Legion, by Admiral Robert L. Dennison. It was a part of the admiral's personal possessions.

At the right is the letter which Admiral Dennison, a native of Warren, sent to the local post. Above is a picture also received from the Supreme Allied Commander, Atlantic.

THIRD QUARTER ACTION. Franklin's Vince Witherup hit right tackle for two yards in this action Saturday against the Warren high Dragons.

The visiting Knights won the Section Two contest 41-0 to give the Warren eleven a 1-1 record.

TREE FARM AWARD. R. C. Wible (right), state forester and member of the Pennsylvania Tree Farm Committee, presents to new tree farmer, Elbert Mohr, of Warren, a Tree Farm sign at a recent Penn-York Woodsmen's Carnival.

The new Tree Farm member was cited for making a selective cut on his 85 acres of woods under the direction of Charles Merroth, district forester of the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters. In such timber cutting, only mature, defective or otherwise undesirable trees are cut, thus speeding the growth of the remaining quality trees and increasing the total yield. The Mohrs have also planted 12 acres to trees and have sprayed white pine to control destructive weevils.

RECEIVES SHOW AWARD. Nancy Curtis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Curtis, of Columbus, recently won a showmanship award for her ability to show an animal to its best advantage while the animal was being judged according to type. The award was presented to the area lass at the Fifth Annual Junior Dairy Show meet held in the Farm Show building in Harrisburg on Thursday, Sept. 15.

Another Warren County 4-H member to receive the Master Showmanship award was Everett Cooper, of R. D. 1, Clarendon.

The county entrants were selected for state competition at a District 4-H Show held at Crawford County Fairgrounds at Meadville earlier this month.

Membership In YWCA Offers Many Advantages

About 80 women who hold membership in the YWCA are making an all-out effort during the period September 19-October 3 to enroll all interested women and girls in the community in the association, making home calls to secure renewals and new memberships. Minimum dues are $3 while contributing membership is $5 and up, however the association welcomes contributions of any amount. Mrs. Kenneth Middaugh, membership chairman, emphasizes that when joining, members may indicate whether they wish to become an elector and take part in the administration of the "Y" or if they prefer to become a general member with membership privileges, but with no active part in forming the policies of the organization.

In addition to its splendid program with teen-agers the "Y" offers a program for adults in the Ladies Day Out Classes where one may learn new skills in crafts, in bridge, in flower arranging, in sewing, lamp shade making, millinery, chair caning, in art and trimmings. In fact the "YW" offers to arrange classes in any subject if there are a sufficient number of people interested. Then there are various clubs for women and girls: The YWCA Woman's Club is a new club that welcomes women and girls twenty years of age and up. Ali-We-Je is the oldest club and is for older women, the Dessert Club is for mothers and any other women. The Garden Club enjoys programs with both men and women. The Girls Club welcomes all girls out of high school, and up to 25 years of age.

Other programs offered in the near future by the "Y" include a Square Dance on Saturday, October 1, at 8:30. This is open to the community. A card party and style show takes place on October 20 at 7:30 p.m. The first in a series of Nationality meals will be a genuine Swedish Smorgasbord on Saturday, November 5, at 6:00 p.m. at the "YW".

Fulfilling the international phase of its program the "YW" plans to mark World Fellowship Week, November 13-19, with a special program on Sunday afternoon, November 13, to which the community is most cordially invited. Foreign guests will participate and the Philomel Chorus will sing.

Because of the leading part it plays in the community life, the YWCA is supported by many women and girls who value its social services. The executive director and the Board are grateful for this support and wish to remind that renewals and new memberships should be secured at once.

ARCHERY SEASON

Just one week from this Saturday at 6 a.m. the 1960 bow and arrow season for deer will commence in Pennsylvania. Archers are reminded that a regular resident hunting license must be purchased before a special license to hunt deer with a bow and arrow can be obtained. This special license is available only at the County Treasurer's office at the price of $2.15.

Warren County Treasurer William E. Rice stated Tuesday that 137 persons in the county had obtained 1960 archery licenses since August 16. Last year in this county 790 such licenses were issued from this office.

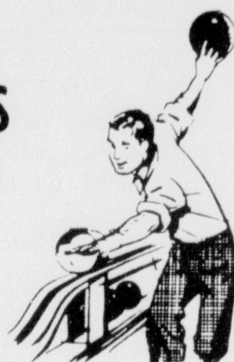

Any sex of deer may be taken during the archery season which will last from Oct. 1 through Oct. 28. Shooting hours are from 6 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. No antlerless license is required during this season.

It is unlawful to: (1) carry or possess a bow and arrow in a vehicle while spotting deer; (2) to use a cross bow or bow held drawn or released by mechanical means; (3) to use an arrow with poison or explosive in head or shaft; (4) to use any but a single shaft arrow; (5) to carry firearms while hunting during the archery season for deer; (6) for a person under 12 years to hunt with a bow and arrow except on his home premises.

No restrictions are placed on the draw weight of the bow, the arrow weight or material in shafts or heads or types of broadheads, carrying a bow strung at any time, or on hunting any wild bird or animal that may be killed with firearms.

Joseph: 193-191--384; Dave Fink: 181-144--325.

Ray Smith of the popular Erie Koehlers team faced Joseph for a four-game match in the evening. The scores were:

Joseph: 193-232-192-233--850; Smith: 228-226-161-176--791.

Inventions in this old world are coming so fast that the ladder to success may soon be replaced by an escalator.

LET'S TALK SPORTS

MONDAY MORNING quarterbacks certainly had much to say after the Dragons' stunning loss to Franklin last Saturday. . . . and, of course, much of it was premature or probably uncalled for. True, the Blue and White again suffered from "fumbilitis" and the breaks certainly were against them, but let's give 'em a chance and hope they come storming back to drench the Titusville Rockets this Friday evening. Coach Veights kept the boys late at practice Monday afternoon, and will more than likely continue the same throughout the remainder of this week.

THE ROCKETS have a one and one season's log this year, having won their opener over the Oil City Oilers, 20-13, and losing to a powerful Grove City team, 26-0, last week. So they too will be attempting to get back on the wagon which rides the win trail.

HOT STOVERS, who have not yet turned in their uniforms, are requested to do so immediately . . . or they may be placed on the ineligibility list for the 1961 year. If you haven't done so, boys, get those "unis" to your team manager in the very near future.

JIM GRIFFIN has been named a co-captain of the Oberlin College soccer team, along with Keith Sugaski, of Wellington, Ohio. Jim, a senior at the Ohio school of higher learning, will lead one of the top soccer teams in the East.

RACING FANS of this area surely recognized some familiar names in the Canfield (Ohio) 250-lap stock car race held last Sunday. . . . Ken Johnson of Jamestown, Bob Duell, of Warren, and Tom Dill, of Erie, Dill copped a fifth place in the gruelling event at the half-mile oval in Canfield.

JOHN JOY, the forceful head mentor of the Meadville court team, has accepted a post as assistant football coach at the Crawford County school. His predecessor lasted about two days before assuming a different job elsewhere.

CLARENCE (DUTCH) BURCH, well known to basketball fans in Warren, has taken a job as head coach of basketball at his high school alma mater, Oil City, replacing Thomas Skinner. Burch, a terror on the Section Two courts, graduated from OC in 1950, and then spent three good years at Pitt, starring on its "basketball" squad.

Some of the local boys who played against Burch and his Oiler squad, which was averaging 100 plus points per game, recalled the Oil City-Warren game played here at the Beauty court. (At that time, when a team scored over 60 points, it was quite an accomplishment.)

On the Oil City stage, Warren was swamped, 57-35, but the tide turned in Warren as the Dragons, all lathered up for the Oilers' visit, sent Burch & Co. home with a 53 to 42 setback.

KNIGHT QUARTERBACK RUINS LOCALS, 41 - 0

From the first play of the ball game between Franklin and Warren Saturday afternoon on Memorial field, the Blue and White were never in the game as they went down to a humiliating 41 to 0 defeat. In the post war years, it was only the third time that a Warren foe had scored over forty points against the Dragons - the 1946 Dragons losing to Bradford, 53-13, and the 1951 team losing to Meadville, 44-19.

The Dragons' pass defense in the lop-sided tilt was very porous as Franklin's quarterback, Jim Harbaugh passed for touchdowns of 44, 10, and 35 yards. In addition he kept the Blue and White in a constant dither with his aeriels, which were more effective because of the Knights' strong running game.

The visitors, Section Two champs of 1959, broke into the scoring column on the first play from scrimmage as Harbaugh faded back and hit Jim Brown with a pass for a touchdown, the play covering 44 yards. The Knights' field general added the PAT with a kick as he did on four of the five remaining Franklin scores. Later in the same period he found Don McMichael in the open, and pitched a 10-yard TD heave.

In the second quarter Fred Yetcha raced 10 yards for the Knights' third score before Harbaugh got back into the show. The quarterback then passed 35 yards to Bill Beebe for a score.

After a sustained drive in the third stanza, left halfback Jack Schosser went over on a short plunge to make the score 33 to 0. Harbaugh added the point after to complete the scoring in the stanza.

The Blue and White's poor ball handling gave the victors their final score of the game. Warren quarterback John Wooster attempted a pitchout with minutes remaining in the game, but Franklin right guard, Dick Witherup, picked off the attempt and raced 43 yards to paydirt.

GRIDIRON RESULTS

NIAGARA FALLS IN WIN OVER DUKES, 16 TO 7

The Jamestown Dukes dropped their second game in three outings in the Western New York Semi-Pro Football Conference Saturday evening as they lost to the Niagara Falls Thunderbirds, 16 to 7. The Dukes scored first in the contest as Baldy Ericsson reached paydirt early in the first quarter. The Jim-towners took over the pigskin near the midfield stripe, and marched all the way for the score. Warren's Jim Tinelli aided the drive as he scampered eight yards from the 10 to the 2, running from the quarterback position.

The T-Birds came right back to erase the Dukes' lead, scoring in the first stanza, also. Their two-point conversion made the count, 8 to 7, and from that point on the Dukes' were never able to recapture the lead. NF tallied once more in the third period to round out the evening's scoring.

BEATY FOOTBALL SLATE INCLUDES FIVE GAMES

Athletic Director of the Warren High School, Joseph Massa, Thursday announced the following schedule for the Beaty Junior High football team: Sept. 29, Jefferson there; Oct. 6, Lincoln here; Oct. 13, Washington there; Oct. 20, Southwestern here; and Oct. 27, Falconer here. All these Thursday contests will begin at 4 p.m., the home games to be played on Memorial field.

Coaches of the Beaty team are Dean Passmore and Dick Mitchell. Passmore was assistant coach to Eugene Williams last year, but the latter has taken a leave of absence from the school, and he was replaced this season by Mitchell.

The above five teams, plus the local entry, will be competing for honors in the Chadakoin League again this season. Last year's Beaty eleven went undefeated in league action, rollong over the other schools with comparative ease.

TICKETS FOR GAME

GETTING UP IN THE WORLD

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. -- Ringed by mountains, standing sheer and glorious as a beacon to the impious of Princeton, Pennsylvania, and Harvard, behold her! . . . The first press box elevator ever built in the northeast section of our country! She is Pennsylvania State's new 102-foot beauty which today lifted uncounted foot pounds off the sagging frames of such curious antiques as Chester L. Smith, of "The Pittsburgh Press," Franklin Whetterell Sheppard Yeutter, of "The Philadelphia Bulletin," and Rufus Stanley Woodward of the Herald Tribune.

This department, thinking to score a minor Blieriot or Lindbergh, arrived on the scene practically after breakfast, hoping to be the elevator's first passenger. When we reached the press box, however, it was well populated. We have filed a claim that all previous arrivals walked up the stairs and still hope to be recognized as the first rider.

The Penn State press box has everything once you get to it. It is roomy, airy though enclosed, with adequate conveniences. When necessary there is heat. In other words, "the country cousin" makes the pompous and usurious city relative look sick. "Thrombosis Towere," University of Pennsylvania's dreadful pigeon roost, has no one thing to recommend it . . . and, as we understand it, Penn gets more money from the state.

This comparison is so obvious we can't help making it. Apologies, Mr. Bob Paul. I feel certain you would do something if you could. Believe us, Bob, however, you'll get no peace in the future.

We got so excited over the press box elevator that we neglected to say that Penn State has a new stadium with a permanent seating capacity of 44,000, that it is a new old stadium, for all the steel seating sections and some of the other adjuncts, including the three story press box on old Beaver Field, were cut up with oxy-acetylene torches, moved a mile and a half and fitted into the new contraption.

The old game site, known as Beaver Field, is in the middle of town, right back of the Nittany Lion Inn. The new one, called Beaver Stadium, is located a mile and a half out of town on land which has been used by the Agricultural College. The stadium is set between cattle barns and a turkey experimental station. It was necessary to move a few thousand turkeys to raise the parking capacity to 10,000 cars.

It can be raised far beyond this number by readjusting the grazing areas of a little more livestock. Jim Tarman, the thoughtful Nittany tubthumper, is a little leery of a heavy rain, because the parking fields are grass. He says the University might have to get all the farm tractors out to clear the lot if the tail of a hurricane hits.

He points out that there was no way of parking anywhere near Old Beaver Field, and has visions of a happy throng ingesting dry martinis, stuffed eggs and sandwiches in pre-game tailgate lunches in the new field.

"Just like Yale and West Point," he says. The new stadium is all steel, no concrete. As far as is known, it is the largest all-steel stadium in the world. The underpinning and upper seats, all new steel, were installed in July, 1959.

Immediately after the Holy Cross game, which concluded the season last fall, the engineers started cutting up the stands on Old Beaver Field. They were loaded on flat bed trailers and riveted into place in the lower tiers on the new site. Only the old seats were put at the bowl end of the new stadium, on the theory that no more seats were wanted behind the goal line. Consequently, the stadium is 70 rows high between the goal lines, and 30 behind the goal lines.

The setting is breath-taking, even though the leaves haven't started to turn. Mount Nittany looms through the open end of the stadium and the seven mountains string out to the south. The Bald Eagle Mountain, northward, completes a ring.

University Park, or to give it its older or pre-Milton Eisenhower name, State College, has been fallaciously reported to sit on top of Mount Nittany. Actually it is on an Appalachian plateau adjacent to this park. It is surrounded by heavy timber, wild trout streams and the most glorious natural country surviving south of the state of Maine.

The university made comparatively little fuss about dedication of its new stadium. Ernie McCoy, the athletic director, made a speech between halves and presented nine members of the football team of 1909, and their coach, the immortal Bill Hollenback. They were the first to play on Old Beaver Field and they were undefeated. Gave Grove City a good pasting, too.

Well, that's all there is, except that we look forward to the ride down in the new elevator.

WE MAY EAT GOOSE

Six thousand acres of land near the Pymatuning Refuge are being developed for geese and it is hoped then many thousands of the big birds eventually will visit the area. In fact, by the fall of 1961 it is believed 20,000 geese will fly in.

There will be controlled hunting on the area when it is opened, including a limitation of the number of hunters, the number of days, and the hours. Fifteen dams and dikes are being constructed to impound water for control of levels for waterfowl food production, and pot holes for nesting and resting are being prepared. A thousand acres will be planted in waterfowl food.

Plans include a 625-acre area where there never will be hunting.

This will provide safe feeding and resting for the geese. The area also will house the Game Commission's captive flock of Canadian goose breeders during the closed months.

To encourage the geese to visit the area, many sections will be closed to hunting this year. If the geese come in once and like it they will return.

All interested in more information concerning these plans should visit the Pymatuning Goose Management Area on October 2, when a show-me trip will be taken. It starts at two o'clock, with a briefing to precede the actual trip. The place of meeting is the waterfowl museum on Ford Island, south of Linesville.

WATERFOWL NEWS

(The Game Commission has printed a summary sheet of the migratory season, on the back of which is a sunrise-sunset table. It is available at post offices where the duck stamp is sold, county treasurers' offices, issuing agent establishments, and Harrisburg.)

Waterfowl season 1960 serves as a reminder that to a great extent conditions in nature dictate the abundance of wild game, therefore the permissible daily take and length of a particular season. Sportsmen who enjoy duck hunting in Pennsylvania accept this year's limitations as sound game management, the natural production of canvasbacks and redheads again having been low. The following developments please waterfowlers:

The Game Commission's duck rearing and release program, initiated in 1951, has been a great factor in producing birds for waterfowl hunters in Pennsylvania, particularly for early shooting. The project also assures that a growing number of the liberated birds that "make it" safely in fall migration will reproduce broods.

This year the Commission banded and released ducks and geese in natural habitat as follows: 5,795 mallard ducklings; 480 year-old mallard ducks; 10 blue-winged teal; and 141 Canada geese. An additional 98 Canada geese were purchased, banded and released. The Game Commission hatched and reared all the ducklings. The 1960 duck hatching record at the State Waterfowl Farm was 84.4 percent, an amazing accomplishment according to duck breeders.

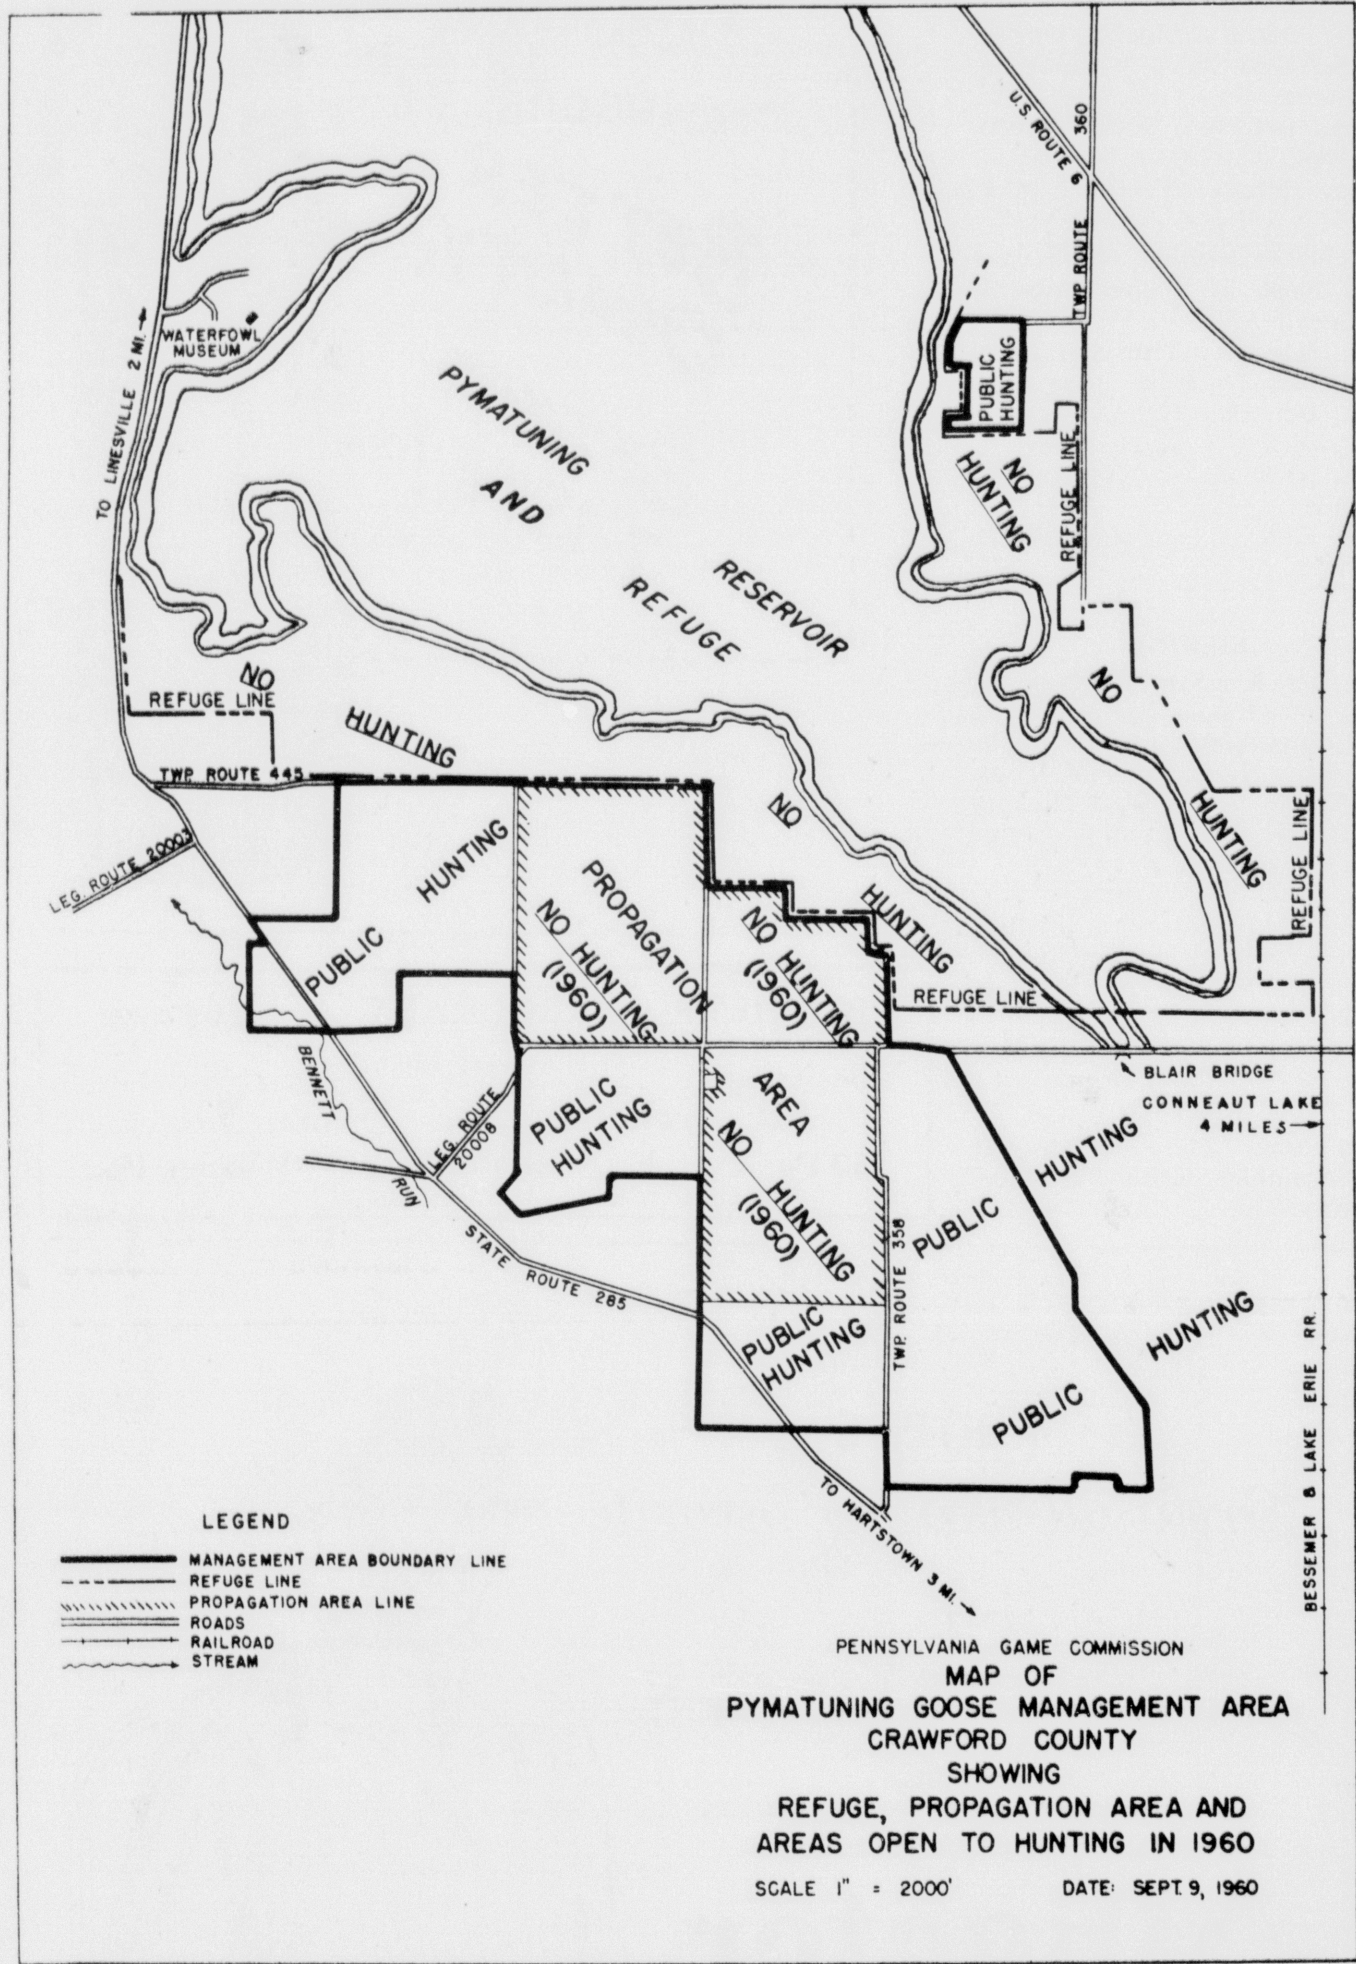

For all her scenic beauty, Pennsylvania was not endowed with many natural lakes. However, recent-year water developments are helping the duck hunting sport. Various agencies have helped produce the all-important conditions waterfowl require. The Game Commission has engaged in a program of establishing shallow water impoundments near which the birds preferred food and cover have been planted or developed.

A few islands in the Susquehanna River have been purchased and will be developed to provide improved feeding and resting conditions for the migrant fowl on this important duck waterway. The Department of Forests and Waters has built several lakes and more are planned. Flood control dams have helped.

The U. S. Soil Conservation Service reports there now are about 12,000 ponds of less than 40 acres in size in the state. Though not all the mentioned lakes and ponds offer conditions desirable for duck nesting, many will serve as resting and feeding impoundments on which waterfowl will stop over during fall migrations, thus increasing the shooting possibilities of Pennsylvania's duck and goose hunters.

Skilled in service... and in safety

This telephone lineman is one of the more than 33,000 Bell of Pennsylvania men and women who devote their careers to bringing you good telephone service.

Like all Bell people, he has been trained to live and work safely. And he uses his safety knowledge for his community's benefit.

He is, for example, a member of the Bell 100,000 Mile Club . . . men who have driven company vehicles regularly for 10 years or more without an accident.

He is also a qualified Red Cross first aid instructor, teaching in his spare time.

But safety is only one of his community activities. He works with local charity drives. He is a PTA officer. And he coaches a Little League team.

In short, he is typical of your neighbors in the telephone company. They have chosen careers in a field essential to everyone's welfare. It is natural, then, that they should feel a special sense of community responsibility.

GOVERNOR LAWRENCE HAS PROCLAIMED SEPTEMBER
"SAFETY IN COMMUNITY LIVING MONTH"

This month the Pennsylvania Junior Chamber of Commerce and The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania—supported by regional safety councils—are planning and initiating year-round accident and fire prevention programs. If your Club or group would like us to present an interesting and worth-while safety demonstration, call your local Bell Telephone Business Office.
